YOUR NEIGHBOUR

In this edition of Knowing Your Neighbour, we introduce Halistya Pramana, the visionary behind Vinoti Living, a brand synonymous with elegant and thoughtfully designed furniture.

While Halistya humbly states that she is neither an artist nor a designer, her passion for creating beautiful products has been a driving force in her career. Much of her time in Jakarta is dedicated to developing unique pieces that have made Vinoti Living a household name in the interior and furniture industry.

For Halistya and her family, The Residences at The St. Regis Jakarta is more than just a home; it's a sanctuary that provides peace and tranquility after busy days. She expresses her appreciation for the refined elegance and sophistication that St. Regis properties are known for around the world, perfectly aligning with her desire for a luxurious and serene lifestyle. From the luxurious on-site restaurant to the beautifully designed shared spaces, every detail is thoughtfully curated to promote both interaction and privacy, allowing residents to indulge in a lifestyle of elegance and ease.

Halistya and her husband, Freddy, are avid travelers who enjoy exploring both within Indonesia and abroad, often seeking out destinations off the beaten path. Despite their love for travel, they always cherish returning to the comfort and hospitality of going home to The Residences at The St. Regis Jakarta. It is here that Halistya envisions hosting family gatherings, spending quality time with friends, and creating lasting memories with her loved ones.

As someone deeply involved in the design industry, Halistya appreciates the well-planned communal areas at The Residences, which foster a sense of community while preserving a feeling of privacy. Private lounges, serene gardens, and other sophisticated amenities encourage socialization in a way that feels natural and effortless, all while ensuring residents feel secure and pampered.

When asked about her advice to potential buyers, Halistya emphasizes the importance of visiting The Residences at The St. Regis Jakarta to experience its ambiance firsthand. She encourages them to consider the community, amenities, and lifestyle it offers, highlighting the long-term value, exclusivity, and unparalleled service that come with investing in a property at St. Regis.
